

NOTES ON CONTRIBUTORS

David SEYFORTH RUEGG, Indologist and Tibetologist, president of the IABS from 1991-1998. Translator of Bu-ston's anthology of Sūtra texts on the Tathāgatagarbha theory. Author inter alia of several publications on the Madhyamaka school of Mahāyāna philosophy. Research Professor in the Department for the Study of Religions, School of Oriental and African Studies, London University.

Giulio AGOSTINI earned a PhD in Buddhist Studies from the University of California, Berkeley. He is an independent scholar whose research mainly focuses on Buddhist ethics (laypersons, Vinaya) and on the history of exegesis of important Hinayana statements.

Alexander WYNNE is a junior Research Fellow in Oriental Studies at St. John's College, Oxford.

Dr. Robert MAYER received his BA from the University of Bristol in England, and his PhD from Leiden University in the Netherlands. Together with his wife Dr Cathy Cantwell, he is currently conducting a research project at the Oriental Institute, University of Oxford, where they are also Visiting Scholars at Wolfson College. His previous positions include Lecturer in Theology and Religious Studies at the University of Wales, Senior Research Associate at the University of Kent, and Visiting Professor of Tibetology at the Humboldt University of Berlin.

Sam VAN SCHAİK received his PhD in Tibetan Buddhist Literature from the University of Manchester, England. He currently works at the British Library's International Dunhuang Project, researching early Tibetan Manuscripts. He has recently published a study of the Rdzogs chen texts of 'Jigs med gling pa, entitled Approaching the Great Perfection.

Charles MULLER is Professor in the Faculty of Humanities at Toyo Gakuen University in Tokyo. His earlier research focused on Korean Seon Buddhism and the Sūtra of Perfect Enlightenment, and he has recently been working with East Asian Yogācāra and the Awakening of Faith. He is the founder and managing editor of both the H-Buddhism scholars network <<http://www.h-net.org/~buddhism/>> and the online Digital Dictionary of Buddhism <<http://www.acmuller.net/ddb>>.

Gérard FUSSMAN, ancien archéologue-adjoint de la Délégation Archéologique Française en Afghanistan, est Professeur au Collège de France (chaire d'histoire du monde indien) depuis 1983. Une partie de sa bibliographie porte sur l'Inde du nord-ouest à époque ancienne. Elle se trouve sur www.college-de-france.fr <<http://www.college-de-france.fr>>.